Alberto has always dreamed of having a son, with whom he could share his passions: food, soccer, sports, cars... But fate has given him three daughters who impose on him an entirely different lifestyle: healthy, educated and feminine. When his wife Emma is expecting their fourth child, Alberto asks the "stars" for "at least" a boy. His wish is granted... even more than he could imagine! By magic, his three daughters become three boys. But is life with three sons actually better, or will it only be trouble...?
